

Fig 2. The principles for mass spectrometry of biomolecules. In ESI biomolecules are released as multicharged ions from small charged droplets. By ionisation with SLD (Soft Laser Desorption) the energy from the laser light is transferred to the biomolecules so that they enter the gas phase.